

Peter Bergé, Esq., PA

Peter Bergé is an attorney and is licensed as a PA in New York State. He has extensive experience in healthcare, including 22 years of PA practice in a wide range of clinical, educational and administrative areas. Prior to studying law he was a member of the full time faculty of the St. Vincent Catholic Medical Centers-St. John's University physician assistant education program. He lectures on medicine, law and medicolegal topics to local, national and international groups, and has published on medical and medicolegal topics, including three chapters in medicolegal texts.

Formerly a partner in the litigation law firm of Bendit Weinstock in West Orange, New Jersey, he has been admitted to the New Jersey bar since 2004. His concentration in law practice was medical malpractice, with special interests in emergency medicine, cardiology and nosocomial infections. Now living in Mexico City, he is a medicolegal consultant and educator.
